

14-case

During the lesson, Dima sits under his desk and plays with the cars he brought from home. If there are no cars, he plays with an eraser and pencils (imitates the sound of a train, barks, and so on). He does not respond to the teacher's comments and distracts other children with his behavior. In the presence of his mother and grandmother, Dima behaves appropriately, completes assignments, listens to the teacher. The child finds it difficult to explain the reasons for his behavior. Comment on the situation. Formulate and justify possible reasons for the behavior.
