

11-case

Psychological competence . Sveta (6 years old) attends the preparatory group of the kindergarten. She can read, write, loves to dance, sing, and recite. Mom is proud of her, and Sveta is proud of herself. One day, walking home with her mother, the girl said “I won’t go to kindergarten tomorrow! They give me tasks that are more difficult than others, so that I don’t know how to answer.” How should mom react?