

4-case

Psychological and pedagogical competence. The child has few friends. Quite often, conflict situations arise with peers if they prevent him from doing what he loves. If someone expresses a desire to communicate with him, then he does not make contact. He is very withdrawn, slow, it is very difficult to distract him from his studies, one might say that he is “a child within himself.” How can teacher help him?